Editor's Message

Erika Kenner
Editor

Happy New Year and welcome to the start of Bull Sale Season!! This is the season where everyone's mailbox gets filled with catalogs and magazines! Commercial ranchers in the Dakotas are lucky as they are in the heart of some very good genetics. The seedstock breeders in the Midwest are some of the best in the nation. While paging through this issue, you'll notice some top quality genetics available.

The Simmental breed can complement many breeds in a crossbreeding program, and they have overcome many issues in the past. The Simmentals of today have calving ease, performance, maternal ability and carcass quality and have improved leaps and bounds through the years. It is a great testament to the hard work, perseverance and forward thinking of the Simmental breeders in the industry.

Good luck to all during this upcoming bull sale season and calving. The weather has caused a lot of problems for everyone in 2013, so let's hope that 2014 will be much better for all!

Sincerely,
Erika Kenner

Why Buy From Begger's Diamond V? Extra Profitability. Because. . .

- We know as a commercial producer you sell your cattle based on weight and how they look (quality). How value is determined varies, whether it is in the auction market, in the country, by video or on the rail. Be assured quality and performance has been the basis of our program from the beginning.
- Reputation — take away all the numbers, all the EPDs and fads . . . Begger's Diamond V Ranch has strived to raise only high-quality cattle for over 38 years.
- At Begger's Diamond V Ranch you are not just buying a bull, you are buying a program.
- Our 38 years of AI'ing and embryo transfer gives you access to the top genetics of the Simmental and Angus breeds, which allows you access to the very best genetics.
- You will experience fewer time consuming management problems, especially with calving ease and calf vigor, udders, fertility, feet, legs and disposition because we cull our herd for such problems.
- You are selecting from the top end, the bottom has already been culled.
- Our cattle are raised in an unpampered environment to ensure that they will work for you.
- EVERY bull has an efficient, hard-working mother that does her job in eastern Montana's tough environment.
- Responsibility — We accept the responsibility to provide you with only predictable genetics. They must meet our standards before they meet yours.
- Our success depends on yours and we expect your purchases to work for you. We stand behind them 100%.
- Bulls are 5.5 to 6.5 frame with extra depth with volume and fleshing ability.
- Bred for calving ease, fast growth, efficiency, maternal strength and carcass quality putting more profit in your pocket.
- Bulls are developed for ranchers on a high roughage ration with very little starch and plenty of exercise.
- Every bull was born, raised and developed on our ranch.
- Maternal and direct calving ease is a must. If they are not born easily and alive, nothing else matters.
- All bulls sell free of BVD and all genetics defects! Bulls sell with complete performance records, ultrasound data and EPDs.
- Daughters of these bulls will make outstanding replacements that are trouble free, easy keeping and profit driven; their calves will be in high demand and top market sales.
- We have connected ourselves with market opportunities that should make your calves more valuable helping you receive premiums and top markets. We offer free keep until April 1st, a breeding soundness exam, and free delivery up to 500 miles.

SDSA New Briefs

Zweep Family Receives Award

The South Dakota Simmental Association awarded the Zweep Family, Garretson, SD, with their Commercial Cattlemen of the Year award on December 13, 2013 in Sioux Falls, SD.

The Zweep Family operation is a diversified 3rd generation corn, bean, alfalfa cattle operation, with the first Simmental females purchased in the 1970's. Since then they have purchased multiple bulls and female from South Dakota Simmental Breeders. They have also purchased cattle from all three winter shows and sales along with the South Dakota Source Sale.

One day, I received a call from them requesting to AI one of the females they purchased. Upon arrival, I found the female grazing on the end of the halter like a horse on a tie chain. After AIing the female, we sat and made small talk. They asked what it would take to AI breed all of the open replacement heifers. After explaining the AI process and the time consuming part of heat detection, they decided to AI all of them and to this day, they still naturally heat detect and AI all of the open heifers annually. This has also lead them to clipping and consigning some commercial bred females to the SD Source Sale.

Our small talk even brought back old sires like Signal being AI bred to mature cows on the place. Signal was the sire of many of their first bulls purchased.

Congratulations to the Zweep Family from the South Dakota Simmental Association.

Dr. Wade Shafer, ASA Executive Vice President

The Simmental Genetics business and our U.S. beef cattle seedstock market share have grown dramatically in recent years. Hard work, tough decisions and embracing science are how we have got here. Similar to many other businesses, we offer several products, namely Simmental, Simbrah, SimAngus™ and SimAngus™ HT. Each of these breeds is data based, scientifically evaluated and presented on the same EPD scale.

You can choose the most ideal of these “tools” to advance your enterprise and be confident they will perform according to expectations because the American Simmental Association owns the most sophisticated and scientific multi-breed genetic system in the world. We account for the impacts and heterosis from Brahman, Angus, Red Angus and all other breeds that are combined with outstanding Simmental genetics to provide America's energized interests and needs for Composite Seedstock.

Even though our nation is blessed with the best food-producing systems in the world, the American Simmental Association embraces each scientific breakthrough that helps U.S. farmers and ranchers make better cattle and better beef. We plan to be an important part of ensuring that this nation's beef consumers will continue to enjoy tender, tasty steak at a price we all can afford.

Toward that goal, the American Simmental Association staff handles many important programs and projects crucial to the success of our members' customers. New ideas and implemented scientific support has advanced the genetic worth of our members' cattle. I strongly encourage you to review our commitment toward helping Simmental Breeders focus on real and true genetic change. That is one reason SimGenetics is the fastest growing seedstock source in this nation.

It is often said that a picture is worth a thousand words. When it comes to genetic improvement, that statement may underestimate the picture's value. We can talk until blue in the face about how much we have done to improve our cattle. But, as Sgt. Joe Friday would incessantly state while questioning witnesses on TV's Dragnet, “all we want are the facts, ma'am”. A picture of our genetic trends provides those facts. (See slide below)

This is obviously a busy picture —it certainly validates our “we've been busy” motto! The ultimate summary of all <http://haveuherd.wordpress.com> this movement is that we have improved profit as measured by our All Purpose Index (API) by $59 per exposure since 1980. As I have shown in the past, relative to other beef breeds, our genetic trends are impressive and our improvement in profit is second to none. We can be proud of this; however, we cannot rest on our laurels.

Our success is heavily dependent on how our products impact the commercial industry's bottom line — which in turn is heavily dependent on the selection decisions each of us make. I say each of us, as genetic improvement is truly a team sport. If we all work together in producing profit improving seedstock, we will make much more progress than if only a few of us take on the challenge.

In monitoring our population, it appears a growing portion of our membership is up to the challenge. Because they exert a substantial influence on our population, sizing up our most heavily used bulls provides a good gauge of our genetic direction. In that light our future is bright, as the ten most used bulls averaged in the top 2% for API ($141). This is the strongest selection pressure we have collectively placed on profit in our history. Keep up the good work everyone — it will pay off in spades down the road.

The Easy and Not So Easy...

By Marty Ropp, Allied Genetic Resources

Marty Ropp, Allied Genetic Resources

All of us in the beef business know that progress and profitability often unfortunately are affected more by the not so easy. Selecting cattle with great fertility and longevity that calve easily, grow fast and efficiently and create distinct end product value is certainly not always an easy task. There are however, decisions and options we can choose that generate added value and do it with ease.

Choosing, then using crossbreeding and heterosis to enhance profitability is easy. The value of hybrid vigor for the livestock industry is absolutely undeniable! Sure we can and have made poor decisions that hindered the successful use of crossbreeding for some in the past, but well planned use of heterosis and breed complementarity nearly always produces significantly more profit. In fact, if the effects are so significant one could argue that if a commercial herd that doesn't utilize heterosis is not really interested in profitability?

Early on crossbreeding was marketed to producers largely based on the direct and easily measured effects on weaning weight. Once bulls were purchased the proof of hybrid vigor's value was less than 18 months away. Because of huge difference in breed averages that existed for growth genetics 40 years ago the results were even more staggering than crossbreeding advantages alone could have ever accounted for. It was an easy, easy sell. It worked so well in fact that we often left common sense and science behind, made incredibly poor breed combination choices and then over a period of years made crossbred cows purebred cows again. To make matters worse instead of admitting we made silly decisions, we blamed the lost productivity on the cattle! What we failed to value and promote sufficiently was the value of crossbreeding on the maternal side of the profit equation because we were so caught up in the big weaning weight improvements that were so easy to see and measure. Understandably I guess it is not very easy to promote something that is measureable 10 or 15 years in the future, but maternal heterosis is where the huge value resides and in the beef business that is not very long. Quality research however proves every single time that maternal heterosis is the most valuable tool available to improve cow performance and herd profitability and it's easy to get. With the low heritability of maternal traits like fertility and longevity, a breeder or breed can spend a life time trying to make the same progress for those crucial traits that can be realized in one easy cross. Most studies show an equivalent of 1 to 1.5 extra calves over the lifetime of a female in favor of a crossbred cow because of her combination of greater longevity and extra calf weaning weight. If we could purchase a pharmaceutical that added that much performance and profit, there is little doubt that producers would stand in line all day to get some.

Today's revolutions in crossbreeding will be successful because we have the tools and technology to profit from it and we understand the real value of crossbreeding isn't the increase in weaning weight of the first cross, it is the fertility, longevity and lifetime profits produced over the long haul by crossbred cows. As an industry we are realizing that we need to crossbreed our straightbred cows as we see more opens at pregnancy check, less older females in the cow herd and weaning weights and percentages dropping even though we are using the "best" genetics we have ever purchased. It just takes a long time to see the drop off in production associated with straightbred cows. In fact, the only reason that straightbreeding worked for a while is that it took 15 to 20 years to breed valuable maternal heterosis out of much of the US cow herd. The good news is you can begin to get the value back starting in 2015 if you chose to crossbreed commercial cows this year and it's easy. For those of you who have always benefited from the decision to use heterosis, you already know that today's multi-breed databases, profit based EPD's and genomic technologies make selection of superior individuals within and among breeds and composite populations both possible and easy.

More good news! Breeding systems that make harvesting the value of heterosis an easy task are the fastest growing part of the beef genetic business. Designed composite seedstock are today's logical answer to making crossbreeding easy. I don't just mean crossbred bulls made with a new breed you saw on display at the county fair, I am talking about proven combinations of the most valuable and complimentary genetics available with the world's largest beef trait databases and a plan to promote profit instead of dogma. From cow herds to feeders and packers, most of us in this industry would like to combine the calving ease, marbling and moderate cow size offered by great Angus and Red Angus genetics with the fertility, maternal calving ease, efficient muscle growth and carcass cutability of the very best Continental genetics available.

We just needed an easy and effective way to do it. Designed composites like high value SimAngus (or SimAngus HT for southern climates) offer solutions with long term heterosis retention, immense cow and beef value along with the genetic improvement technology to evaluate and improve these composites to generate more profit every new generation. These genetics, made with the most valuable Angus and Simmental genetics available offer the total package and the bonus is they are easy to use.

Today's Simmental and SimAngus genetics have truly taken on an important new role in the beef industry. After spending years committed to research and improvement, these genetics now offer more value to the farm, ranch and beef industry than ever in history. Substantial improvement for calving ease and reduced mature size without sacrificing efficient growth and unprecedented increases for beef value traits like marbling, tenderness and cutability have put SimGenetics in a unique position to compliment highly selected, valuable British breed cattle. That is why whether you choose high percentage Simmental genetics to get more heterosis and change in the first generation or SimAngus to build and easily sustain heterosis and profit over the long haul, the choice is a solid one and it's backed by the highest tech and most reliable genetic evaluation and tools in the business.
